Your company’s impact
January - December 2017
Awaaz, Essex

Awaaz, meaning ‘A voice for women’, works with women of all ages to promote their rights. The charity works with families from diverse backgrounds, particularly those who feel isolated.

Awaaz runs programmes which focus on making communities a safer place for women. The activities include: community mobilisation; school-based education programmes; support sessions; and children’s parties.

Awaaz ordered beauty gift sets and washbags, which it has gifted to its members.

“The products we get from In Kind Direct are varied, depending on the needs of the women who come to our group. We order toiletries for the women. Being able to give them a nice, branded product such makes them feel valued and encourages them to come back again.”

Bushra Tahir, Chairperson
Good Companions, Bolton

Good Companions is a group run by disabled people for disabled people.

The charity gives independence and confidence to its members who plan and take part in a range of regular activities. It also provides the carers of the group members a break from their caring responsibilities.

Good Companions runs activities six days per week, as well as regular outings.

Good Companions has received toiletries, which it has added to care packages which it gives out to its group members and their carers.

“Once a month we can fill a bag up with various items to give out to carers of those with disabilities. We are also able to make packs for disabled people who are not well enough to make it to our group, and who are not well off money wise and who find it a struggle.”

Julie Humphreys, Founder Member
Hackney Care for Kids, London

Hackney Care for Kids has been providing child care for pre-school children in Hackney for over 20 years.

Hackney Care for Kids provides families in the community with the practical and pastoral support they desperately need.

Many of the parents in this area struggle financially and often need additional support and advice, as well as child care.

Hackney Care for Kids has received shampoo and soap, which it has given out to parents who are struggling financially.

“Hackney Care for Kids is not just about child care; we cater for the community and the families we come into contact with.”

Sandra Watt, Co-ordinator
Caxton House Community Centre, London

Caxton House is a community centre in Archway, North London. It acts as a hub for a range of community groups and projects in the area, such as job clubs, after school clubs, Zumba classes and older people’s drop in, bowls and tea dances.

The centre can get very busy with approximately 1,000 people a week using their services, and is open seven days a week until late.

The charity has received shower gel, moisturiser, and deodorants. Caxton House gives out gift bags of toiletries to its elderly members at the weekly drop in session.

“This centre is run almost entirely on In Kind Direct products. Without the savings we make getting good quality products from In Kind Direct, we would not be able to offer some of the services we do. Thank you to all their donors for making this possible.”

Many of the world’s leading manufacturers and retailers donate products to us.

Millions of pounds worth of goods have been distributed so far.

Estimated volume of usable goods diverted from waste.

Of charities in our network said In Kind Direct enabled them to source goods that they would never otherwise be able to afford.

8,300 charities have received goods from In Kind Direct.

We help millions of beneficiaries every year.

75% use In Kind Direct to clean and maintain their facilities.

The difference we make.
The benefits of product giving

Stock that is surplus to your company could net you a small return from a liquidator, or become your way of giving something back.

In Kind Direct helps you to clear your warehouse, and then delivers your products to where they are needed most.

Reaching individual charities and arranging donations is time consuming and complex.

With In Kind Direct, you can reach thousands of charities – and millions of people – all through one point of contact.

Share your surplus stock ✓

In Kind Direct’s vetting and monitoring procedures ensure there is control over where your products go.

All donations are tracked so we can ensure your goods will only be used for charitable purposes and won’t turn up on market stalls, in charity shops or on online auction sites.

High impact ✓

Peace of mind ✓

With our detailed reports on how your stock is being put to use, you have the perfect way to tell employees, customers and stakeholders about the valuable help your company is giving and tremendous impact you are making.

Inspire stakeholders ✓

As well as helping you meet your CSR goals, In Kind Direct helps you do your bit for the environment. Your surplus stock doesn’t end up in landfill – it helps enhance lives.

The benefits of product giving
Donate products

In Kind Direct can accept all kinds of stock including ends of lines, slight seconds, samples, goods with damaged packaging and returns.

We can accept any size of donation into our warehouse in Telford for onward distribution to charities, from a few cartons to multiple lorry loads.

Volunteer with us

In Kind Direct welcomes teams of volunteers year round to help sort and prepare stock at our warehouse in Telford, Shropshire. It is physical, fun and satisfying.

Help us get urgently needed goods to charities across the UK.

Become a Patron

Invest in what In Kind Direct plans to achieve by 2020, building on the vision of our Founder, HRH The Prince of Wales.

Join our Patrons’ Network to support In Kind Direct’s development.

Take part in one of our challenge events

Cycle, run or walk - we have lots of opportunities for you and your team to raise funds and support our work.
